

Make Sense of It All®

Announcement: 1010data Version 4 Released

Dec. 1, 2007 -- Today, 1010data released Version 4 of its data management and analysis platform. This new release delivers enhancements that enable customers to understand their business better and faster than ever before. As 1010data is offered as a hosted solution, customers will automatically receive the benefits of the new release without any re-configuration or downtime.

The enhancements affect the underlying data platform as well as the browser-based analytical interface. The underlying platform is now even faster than ever and boasts a suite of new analytical functions that further push the limits of query sophistication. The browser interface has been updated to enable easier use of querying tools as well as receiving a general re-design.

Customers have been contacted in advance with the details of this upgrade. For further information, please contact the 1010data support center.